WHY THE "OVERLAND"

PUTS OTHER 4-CYLINDER CARS OFF THE MARKET.

When a manufacturer has made a 4-cylinder car of "Overland" quality at the Overland price, that is the car he will continue to offer to his customer, provided it gives satisfaction in competition with the Overland—but when he cannot make a 4-cylinder car of Overland quality and sell it at the Overland price, then he is forced sooner or later to make another type of car so he will be able to do some business in competition with the Overland.

Watch the new models of other makers and you will see new sizes—new lights—new anything, in fact, is an effort to compete with the Overland. Do not let a salesman blind you into paying extra money for six cylinders when the quality cannot be equal to the Overland.

The Overland Factory is the largest factory in the World making the first-class quality car. Over 100,000 Overland cars will be made this year—that's why the other factories cannot compete, and are resorting to new untried models in order to get the extra money they must ask for inferior cars.

The 1915 Models are undoubtedly most attractive. We have fitted them with Turpedo Bodies, Topps Bonnets, Rimless Screens, and wide 2-passenger seats.

Engine is of 22 H.P., with "Beach" Magneto and Holley Carburettor, and the wheel base for 1915 Models is 8ft. or ten longer than before.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the METZE is its low cost of running and upkeep. Thirty (30) miles to the gallon will be your average, and tyre bill a very small one. There is no more comfortable car, few faster, and no better hill-climber.

As for handsome body design and general appearance, a visit of inspection will convince you, and a trial run is always at your disposal.

Have you any argument to offer as to the advisability of PAYING MORE, when the £190 METZE will do your work and give you every pleasure?

GERMANY AND AMERICA.

THE AMERICAN-GERMAN FARMER

M. Dernburg's campaign in the United States was helped on, to an extent hard to realise, by the obscure mass of American...

ran-German farmers, and by agricultural workers of all kinds. It would be folly to underrate the influence wielded by this agricultural element, let us rather study its cause and its extent. We shall understand it only if we consider carefully the characteristics of the German emigrant farmer.

To begin with, he knows how to select good land, well sheltered by forests, and, having selected it, he manages to pay "cash down" for it. He is, therefore, free. It is here interesting to note that Germans have everywhere selected the same kind of soil—lime formation, which needs less artificial food than other soil. They consider as the best soil that on which trees, especially the oak, grow luxuriantly. They select, whenever possible, land as similar as possible to that which they left—say the undulating country on the Rhine banks and the Palatinate generally—that is, land on which a large harvest can be grown on a comparatively small area. The work of the German emigrant is patient and never-ceasing, and he always keeps in sight that he must not jeopardise the future fertility of the soil for the sake of immediate profit. He is not a temporary occupant; he is a permanent settler. With the purely American farmer owner. While the purely American farmer is wasteful and prodigal, the German is careful, well thought-out economy being the rule of his life. Even where wood is plentiful, he remembers the future, and saves it. His life is frugal, his food simple, his furniture and his clothes chosen for durability rather than for beauty. Elegance is nothing to him, but the prosperity of his farm is everything. His barn is in his eyes of greater importance than his house. The German farmer works hard himself, and expects his wife and his children to do the same. Large families are no one's dread; they are the rule, and welcomed as such.

source of wealth, providing independence from outside help. So the Germans greatly rejoice at the advent of children and large families are much honoured among them. They are proud to hand down the farm from generation to generation, each adding something to its stock. This quality of stability gives to its area. This quality of stability gives a weight to the German farmer's influence and a value to his position, which that of the nomadic farmer could never attain. In fact, the German does not merely emigrate—he founds a family, and hands down to his children a tradition of discipline. They follow in grinations from the Atlantic to the Pacific till the penetration of the States was complete. As the emigrants advanced they left for their followers indications which spared them many useless experiments. So, in the middle ages our own first artisans, contractors, and masons went to learn of the use of which they had

The Emperor, by sending subsidized lecturers to lecture and propagandists, has seen to it that everywhere in Germany knows the story of his father's performance.

There are two productions the German emigrants look upon as essential—the first is wheat, the second is wood. It is their labor which has made of Wisconsin the wheat storehouse of the States. As to wood, they have everywhere defended the existence of forests, and it is partly due to them that Mr. Roosevelt passed laws forbidding the indiscriminate felling of trees, and regulating their replanting.

"As a well-tilled garden shall the earth be.

The earth, belonging to the German farmer;
The earth, as tilled by German hands,"
And it is true that, in every speciality of culture some German has become king—the forests have enriched beyond the dreams of avarice such men as the Hartigs, the Cottas, the Brandls—Roch founded the world-celebrated nurseries which bear his name—the working men of Heinz and Lutz prepare the canned foods eaten all the world over. It was Humann who exported to France the millions of phylloxera-resisting stocks which renewed our vineyards; while another German, Bosch, amassed a huge fortune in the same line, and left six sons to carry on his work (which explains the saying of German soldiers when drinking the wine they have looted from our cellars, that they are taking only their own, since but for a German out vineyards would be bare).

German also are many names in the cattle industry, such as Muller's from Wurtemberg, founder of the present cattle syndicate. They are kings in sheep-breeding, pig-breeding, draught horse-breeding, etc., etc. First also in fruit-growing—one of them produced the world-famed Pewawkee apple—and to another

In 1900, on 4,900,000 farm holdings, 523,000 were in German hands, and Germans were part owners in 300,000 more; besides which 400,000 managers and farm hands were of German origin. Thus even then, the German element counted for 20 per cent. in the total agricultural population of the States, surpassing the united numbers of Irish, English, and Scandinavian emigrants. They formed an organised mass ready to do M. Dernburg's bidding. On August 4 the word was given and cattle and produce of every kind were bought and requisitioned from or by the owners of every one of these farms, who, besides spread abroad an atmosphere essentially favourable to Germany. Happily, the battle of the Marne occurred. Happily, the mastery of the seas, and the consequent patrolling of every port by English, French, Russian, or Japanese ships brought to naught the results the Emperor and M. Dernburg had fully expected from their perfect organising of the German farming interest in America. But no time had been lost, and within the first months of the war practically during the first months of the war practically the whole of the commercial fleets of the neutral countries worked incessantly, carrying to Germany food which the German colonist had procured for his Fatherland. Meanwhile, France, England, and Russia were planning and organising for the conquest of

When, at the end of the war, we try to compute the value of the Allies' victory over great Germany, let us not forget that this victory has not been a military one only, but a victory on all grounds. Let us remember that we had to equal Germany, then to surpass, and vanquish her on every field, and let us see that we do not lose the permanent fruit gained at the price of such mighty efforts.

MONTENEGRIN FUND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.
 Sir,—Mr. Francis R. C. Hopkins writes me this morning on behalf of Montenegro, and states that he is prepared to put up £100 for the Montenegrin Red Cross Society, if anybody else will put up the first £100.
 Sir J. Roper Parkington, Consul-General for

Montenegrin in the London "Times" of June 11, 1915, says that the tiny "Red Cross Society of Montenegrin women is overwhelmed," and the need for medical necessities is far beyond their means. Surely amongst our patriotic Australians we can find someone who is prepared to put up a modest £100 with the knowledge that it is practically £200, for

SUNRISE ON THE BLUE MOUNTAINS.

(OF G. C. R.)

The very name recalls to those who know the Blue Mountains memories of deep dells, misty valleys, rushing streams, wondrous waterfalls, and glorious panoramas. To those who have not seen the Blue Mountains, the name suggests a picture of a land of beauty and grandeur. The Blue Mountains are a national heritage—a hygienic and health-giving resort. To New South Wales these mountains were once a barrier, but now they are a blessing. They are the heart of the Sydney coastal district and the Bathurst Western Plains, the hills of the Blue Mountains are the heart of the State. The mountains are a source of health, healing, and splendid recreation. The Blue Mountains are a source of health, healing, and splendid recreation. STATES TO CONFER.

AIR RAIDS.

HEAVY CASUALTIES.

RUSSIA FIGHTING HARD.

Stubborn fighting is reported in the Baltic provinces. The enemy delivered a series of attacks for the purpose of driving the Russians from the right bank of the Dvina.

In addition to the victory at Tarnopol, the Russians had an important success south-west of Tarnopol (85 miles south-east of Tarnopol), where they took 150 officers and 7000 men prisoner, and captured 36 machine guns.

An Athens message says it has been learned from an authoritative source that the Sultan of Turkey sent an urgent demand to the Kaiser for Germany's help. The Sultan declared that the Turks were unable to hold out much longer in Gallipoli.

It is reported from Paris that there is increasing discontent among the officials in Constantinople. The Sheikh-ul-Islam has resigned.

Arrangements have been made with Servia, Roumania, Bulgaria, and Greece for a Balkan conference to meet in Salonika.

The United States has asked for the recall of Dr. C. Dumba (Austrian Ambassador) for endeavouring to cause strikes in American munition factories.

There has been another air raid on English towns. The total casualties in the three raids were 116 killed and 340 wounded.

TURKEY.

AN APPEAL.

TO THE KAISER.

LONDON, Sept. 10. It is learned in Athens from an authoritative source that the Sultan of Turkey sent an urgent demand to the Kaiser for Germany's help. The Sultan declared that the Turks were unable to hold out much longer in Gallipoli.

Great anxiety is said to prevail in Berlin on account of the resistance offered by the Russians at Volynia (in South-west Russia) and East Galicia. The Germans think they will be unable to give the Turks timely assistance.

Travelers who have arrived at Amsterdam narrate that a Zeppelin on Wednesday last propelled, when over Brussels, and fell. The airship exploded, and was entirely destroyed, the crew being killed.

GERMAN VISION. An German communiqué says: Our naval airships attacked last night London, factories, houses, and harbours. We observed heavy explosions and numerous fires. Hostile batteries fired heavily on the airships, which returned safely.

A Berlin wireless message claims that airships on London docks with very satisfactory effect.

A Corfu telegram states that after thirty-five hours of resistance, the German forces have been repulsed at the Dardanelles. The German forces have been repulsed at the Dardanelles.

ARMENIAN MASSACRE. The "Daily Telegraph" publishes a correspondent's account of the Armenian massacre in Armenia. The Armenians were massacred in a village containing two thousand houses, exclusively Armenian. The Armenians were massacred in a village containing two thousand houses, exclusively Armenian.

DR. DUMBA. The "Daily Telegraph" publishes a correspondent's account of the Armenian massacre in Armenia. The Armenians were massacred in a village containing two thousand houses, exclusively Armenian.

RECRUITING. The "Daily Telegraph" publishes a correspondent's account of the Armenian massacre in Armenia. The Armenians were massacred in a village containing two thousand houses, exclusively Armenian.

EASTERN FRONT.

GALICIA VICTORY.

AT TARNOPOL AND TREMBOWLA.

STUBBORN FIGHTING.

IN THE BALTIC PROVINCES.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10.

A communiqué states: There is stubborn fighting between Lauska and Jablotz (Baltic provinces). Though the Russians did not offer resistance to the Russian bayonet charges, the enemy delivered a series of attacks for the purpose of driving the Russians from the right bank of the Dvina.

We held the enemy's offensive south-east of Skidell, inflicting considerable loss. The Russians continue their premeditated retreat, and occasionally deliver counter-attacks.

On the roads to Rovno the Russians are holding out very bravely. The enemy is supporting their offensive with artillery fire of the most violent character, which our troops are enduring with the greatest courage.

On the 10th, south-west of Trembowla (85 miles south-east of Tarnopol), our offensive resulted in a success as important as at Tarnopol. During the 7th and 8th we took prisoner 150 officers and 7000 men, and captured thirty-six machine guns. Our losses were unimportant.

The enemy on Wednesday evening retreated in great haste towards the Strypa. We are pursuing him. Our captures in the Strypa region since the 3rd total 382 officers and over 17,000 men, and ninety-nine guns.

The communiqué concludes: "Our faithful France has for 15 days bombarded the German front, with terrible effect. The brutality of the German officers in Poland, and the contempt they affect for the national language and customs are causing discontent among the inhabitants who have not fled."

GERMANS BIG EFFORT. Military circles, discussing the victory at Tarnopol, point out that the Germans intend the invasion of Volynia and Podolia with the immediate object of striking the rear of the Russians at Rovno, Dubno, and Kremenetz, where local conditions were favourable. There are plenty of good roads, but no broad streams. Extensive forests facilitate the work of defence. The enemy was fought on a front of thirty miles, along a stream flowing parallel with the railway, two miles west of the town.

The Germans had made elaborate preparations to break the Russian front, and had an immense accumulation of ammunition.

ENEMY REPORTS. General von Hindenburg's armies have taken 3500 prisoners. The enemy is offering obstinate resistance between Jostor and the Niemen. Prince Leopold has reached the Zwickau at several points, and also forced the crossing at Borka. General von Mackensen has reached the north bank of the Jasovka near Thonack. The enemy south of Ostrow, now advanced across the Serech, has been thrown back upon his right wing.

A Vienna communiqué says the Austrians have captured the fortresses of Dumbrava, breaking the Russian front north of Opatow.

AIR RAIDS.

ON ENGLISH TOWNS.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTEEN PERSONS KILLED.

There has been another air raid on English towns. It is officially announced that the total casualties in the three raids were 116 killed and 340 injured.

The "Daily Graphic" demands reparation for the Zeppelin raids. The journal adds: "We are engaged in war with kid gloves. Germany has declared war on our women and children, and it is time we attacked them in kind. When the super-educated savages discover that they have to pay in kind they will consider the advantages of reverting to the practices of civilised nations."

It is reported from Stockholm that Zeppelins were seen going southwards. Later reports say they were heading for the Gulf of Riga.

Travelers who have arrived at Amsterdam narrate that a Zeppelin on Wednesday last propelled, when over Brussels, and fell. The airship exploded, and was entirely destroyed, the crew being killed.

GERMAN VISION. An German communiqué says: Our naval airships attacked last night London, factories, houses, and harbours. We observed heavy explosions and numerous fires. Hostile batteries fired heavily on the airships, which returned safely.

RECRUITING. The "Daily Telegraph" publishes a correspondent's account of the Armenian massacre in Armenia. The Armenians were massacred in a village containing two thousand houses, exclusively Armenian.

CABINET COMMITTEE'S REPORT. The "Daily News" says that the Marquis of Crewe's committee has submitted three reports, one by himself, as chairman, which is colourless, one by Lord Curzon (Lord Privy Seal), Mr. Austen Chamberlain (Secretary for India), Mr. Winston Churchill (Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster), and Lord "Blossie" (President of the Board of Agriculture), which recommended the quota system, also compulsory recruiting for workshops.

Mr. Arthur Henderson (leader of the Labour party, and President of the Board of Education), directly opposes compulsion.

WESTERN FRONT.

THE ARTILLERY.

ACTIVE NEAR YPRES.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

Sir John French reports: There has been no change since August 30. Mining has been carried on by both sides, but the results are unimportant. The artillery has been active eastward of Ypres. Our rifle and machine-gun fire brought down the German aeroplanes on September 1 behind the German lines, south-east of Hooge. A British fighting machine brought down a second aeroplane on Sunday behind the enemy's lines, opposite the southern front. A French communiqué says: Very violent fighting occurred at La Fontaine aux Châmes, in the Argonne, throughout the night. The German made renewed attacks with great persistence, but our line, except portion of a trench near Binarville, was maintained. There were considerable enemy losses, and we made some prisoners.

The French dirigible landed the railway station and factories at Noë (18 miles west-south-west of St. Quentin).

French aeroplanes dropped 30 bombs on Chaulanville railway station.

NAVAL BOMBARDMENT. The "Telegraph" (Amsterdam), in contradicting German's minimising account of the bombardment of Zebrugg by the British fleet, says the fleet, at a short distance, fired 80 shells, which killed 40 and wounded 100.

They destroyed the port for submarines with two submarines, also two guns on the harbour wall, and damaged a third gun. They also badly damaged the central railway, which contained two machines.

ENEMY REPORTS. A Berlin communiqué says: Wurtemberg and Lorraine regiments, east of Vienne-le-Château, in the Argonne, yesterday stormed and occupied a front of two kilometres, with a depth of 500 metres, of the French positions and several villages in the Marle Thiers fortifications. We captured 30 officers, 1900 men, 48 machine-guns, and 24 bomb-mortars.

THE BALKANS.

STATES TO CONFER.

SERVIA, ROMANIA, BULGARIA, AND GREECE.

LONDON, Sept. 10. It is reported from Athens that M. Venizelos (Premier of Greece) has made arrangements for the Balkan States, Servia, Roumania, Bulgaria, and Greece to meet in conference in Salonika. The Premiers and military attaches will attend.

It is understood that Greek naval and military officers abroad on leave have been ordered to immediately return.

A Copenhagen message states that German politicians are discussing, with lively interest, a Bulgarian Minister's surprise visit to Nish, where he delivered a detailed answer to Servia.

Rome advice, state that diplomats are highly optimistic. They are convinced that Bulgaria will give up the idea of throwing in her lot with Austria-Germany. Roumania being prepared to put 300,000 men in the field in the event of either an Austro-German invasion of the Balkans, the entry of Bulgaria into the conflict, or a definite conquest of the Dardanelles.

Russia has sent Roumania half a million heavy coats and boots for mountain warfare.

AMERICA'S ATTITUDE.

HIS RECALL DEMANDED.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.

The United States Ambassador at Vienna (Mr. C. Penfield) has been instructed to inform the Austro-Hungarian Government that her Ambassador (Dr. Dumba) is no longer acceptable to the United States Government as representative of the Imperial and Royal Government, and to ask for his recall.

This action has been taken owing to the Ambassador's propaganda to incite strikes in American munition factories.

A Berlin wireless message claims that airships on London docks with very satisfactory effect.

MUNITIONS.

WAR OF MATERIAL.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S APPEAL.

ADDRESS TO TRADE UNIONISTS.

LONDON, Sept. 10.

Mr. Lloyd George (Minister of Munitions) received an invitation from the Trades Union Congress in Bristol to-day to explain the State control of munition works.

He said: I am grateful for the opportunity to unfold the situation. You represent one of the most powerful forces in directing the country's life. I am sure you will assist me in my task. I am also a trade unionist. I pledged myself yesterday as representatives of organised labour to assist the Government in the successful prosecution of the war.

I am here to take you on the staff of the Government at your word. The war has resolved itself into a conflict between the mechanics of the respective nations. I believe the British workman is the better of the two.

The Government has established 16 national arsenals. They are constructing 11 more, and to work these old and new arsenals, 200,000 men unskilled men and women are wanted. The country is not doing its best. It is entirely a labour problem. You can assist.

A Voice: So can the employers. Mr. Lloyd George: I am not going to spare the employers. (Cheers). The machinery applicable, to make war material is not working night and day. Only 15 per cent. of the machinery is working night shifts, turning out cannon, rifles, and machine-guns. The rest of the machinery is idle. The factories would be occupied continuously. Think what material could be supplied! The problem is not for destroying, but saving the lives of our young men.

AVAILANCE OF SHOT AND SHELL. I want you to clearly understand the problem to which we must set our minds in order to equip the munition works. The factories would be occupied continuously. Think what material could be supplied! The problem is not for destroying, but saving the lives of our young men.

WAR NOTES.

THE DARDANELLES CAMPAIGN.

As far as official reports are concerned a curious silence has enveloped the Allied campaign against Turkey during the past few days. Turkish communiqués have been issued pretty regularly, indicating that the advance in the northern area—an attempt which has been almost continuous; but there has been not a word from our side. The supposition is, of course, that Sir Ian Hamilton, after his last attempt to make a breakthrough in the northern area—an attempt which has been almost continuous; but there has been not a word from our side.

NOT ACCEPTABLE.

DUMBA'S RECALL DEMANDED.

THE AMERICAN NOTE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.

The Note forwarded by the American Ambassador at Vienna (Mr. C. Penfield) on Wednesday says that the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador at New York, Dr. C. Dumba, admitted proposing to his Government to instigate strikes, thereby conspiring to cripple the legitimate industries of the people of the United States and interrupt their legitimate trade.

The United States Government, continued the Note, regrets the necessity of this action, but assures Austro-Hungary of its sincere desire to continue friendly relations.

A later message from Washington states that it is not expected that any international complications will be aroused because the recall of Dumba has been demanded.
